NOTES

Although I translated it to a rather vague term like "playing pretend," the actual term used here is 「百合ごっこ」(yuri-gokko) which roughly translates to "playing yuri" or "pretend yuri"

Translating it to a term like "playing pretend" doesn't quite capture the full meaning of the original word, and feels unnatural for girls as old as them to be using Unfortunately a more suiting word did not come to mind, so I left it as such.

I thought I would at least include this note at the end for those curious or if the term used striked others as unnatural as well.
